LORE & ESSENCE

"Taxes are the foundation of civilization. I'm just... very civilized."

Happy Fullmore is the fattest, greediest, most well-fed mayor in the entire realm. He taxes the citizens of Helne into near-poverty while feasting on mountains of food daily. He consumes roughly one percent of all food produced in Tiamat — an absurd statistic for a single man. Despite all this, he is politically savvy, hard to remove from office, and genuinely believes he deserves everything he takes.
