TRAITS & FEATURES

Master Architect. Maurice designed and built Gondor's entire sewer system. He can create detailed blueprints from memory and has advantage on checks related to construction and engineering.

Hears Dragons in the Sewers. Maurice claims to hear dragons in the sewer system. Everyone thinks he's crazy. He might be right (see: King Hardfire's secret).

Rats Steal His Socks. Maurice is absolutely convinced that rats are stealing his socks. He sets elaborate traps. The rats always win.

Brilliant but Unhinged. Maurice has advantage on Intelligence checks but disadvantage on Wisdom checks. His genius comes at the cost of his grip on reality.

LORE & ESSENCE

"I'm telling you, there's a dragon in the pipes! And WHERE ARE MY SOCKS?!"

Maurice is the greatest architect Gondor has ever produced and also the craziest dwarf most people have ever met. He built the entire sewer system of Gondor — a masterwork of engineering that has saved thousands of lives. He also claims to hear dragons in the pipes, which everyone dismisses as madness. Given that King Hardfire is secretly raising a baby black dragon in the deep mines... Maurice might be the sanest dwarf in the kingdom. He just can't find his socks.

KEY RELATIONSHIPS

King Hardfire. His king. Maurice respects Hardfire but won't stop pestering him about the dragon sounds.
